

Communicate with clients and other attorneys. Review contracts. Record depositions and subject-matter experts. Collaborate on cases and projects more efficiently with Lighthouse Conferencing.

When you're working with clients, other attorneys or subject matter experts, being able to meet at anytime regardless of where they are located is crucial to gathering information and completing cases. Turn travel time into increased billable time. Lighthouse Conferencing helps you move cases and projects forward more quickly and cost effectively.

Connect Locally, Meet Globally

Lighthouse's reservationless telephone conferencing service gives you access to a comprehensive range of local access and international toll-free and local access numbers across the globe.

Our service is the next evolution in automated service that lets you talk to people around the world, just like they're next door. Get direct-dial capabilities and global reach with our fast worldwide network.

Bridging Gaps

From partners, to legal secretaries, to office managers and technology staff, our telephone conferencing connects people instantly, reducing travel costs and increasing productivity. We cover all major international business hubs to bring you flexibility and convenience. Control the conference using your phone's touch-tone pad to create sub-conferences, mute/un-mute participants, record calls and more.

Accessing Reports via Lighthouse Online

Lighthouse's range of tools allow users and administrative users to access a variety of features and tools including scheduling conferencing and reviewing bills. In particular, users with an administrative profile, can log into Lighthouse Online, our electronic billing and reporting interface, to access management information and download relevant billing data.

In addition to billing data and reports, Lighthouse Online offers administrative users account information and access to account management features.

Track and Allocate Costs More Easily

Lighthouse's unique industry leading billing interface system has been designed to help law firms track and allocate costs more easily. This system provides custom billing solutions and supports the capture of client and matter numbers. Once this information has been captured, users are able to access a range of management information reports relating to usage and costs.

The following shows typical levels of cost and usage information that can be accessed and downloaded by designated users.

- by department
- by lawyer
- by client
- by matter number

Key Benefits

Lighthouse's billing interface and the unique system that underpins it, enable law firms to quickly and accurately allocate costs at a department, lawyer, client or matter number level. As a result, key processes undertaken by support teams (e.g. Accounts) relating to the recovery of costs are made more efficient and effective. Also, due to readily available management information support teams involved in the recovery of costs are able to be more productive, save on time and costs.

Finally, as a result of improving and speeding up the processes associated with the allocation of costs, law firms are able to get a more true picture of client costs incurred at any one time and associated profitability.

Peace of Mind
